Space & Comfort

With 84 m² of interior living space complemented by a generous 15 m² covered veranda, this apartment is thoughtfully proportioned for year-round comfort. Whether you are enjoying morning coffee overlooking the surroundings or entertaining guests in the evening breeze, the veranda extends your living space in the way that only coastal Cyprus living can offer.

The covered parking and private storage add practical value that buyers in this price bracket will genuinely appreciate — particularly for those considering the property as a permanent residence or holiday home with extended stays.

Location & Connectivity

Livadia sits within the greater Larnaca district, a coastal township that has steadily grown in popularity among both local buyers and international investors. The area offers a relaxed, residential feel while remaining well-connected: Larnaca city is minutes away, and the international airport is just 13 km — a compelling advantage for frequent travellers and those managing a rental investment remotely.

Ideal For

This apartment is well suited to permanent residents seeking a manageable, low-maintenance coastal home; holiday buyers looking for a private seaside retreat in a quiet, small-scale development; and rental investors targeting the Larnaca tourist corridor.
